

What is EADI?

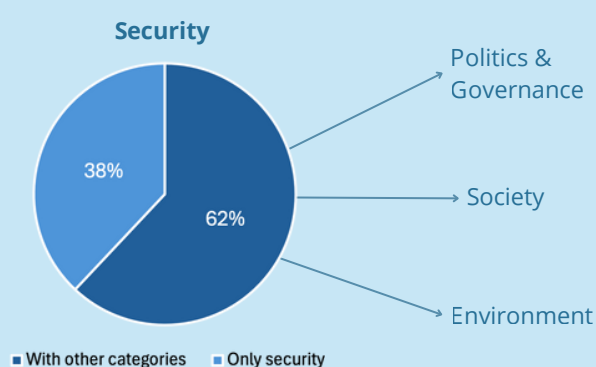

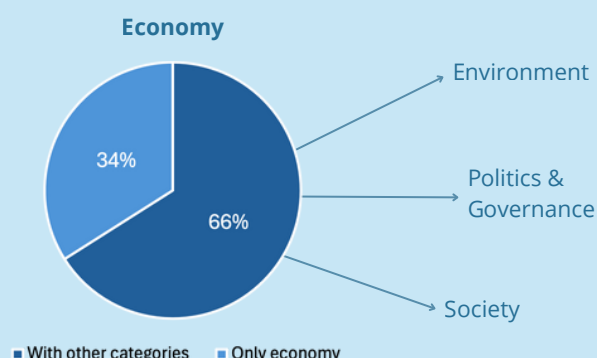

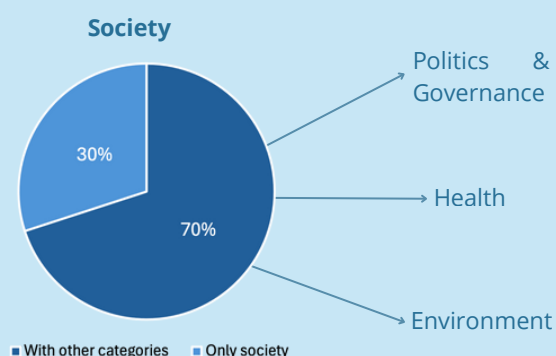

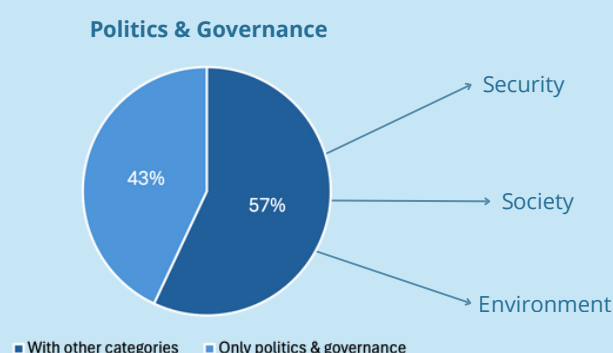

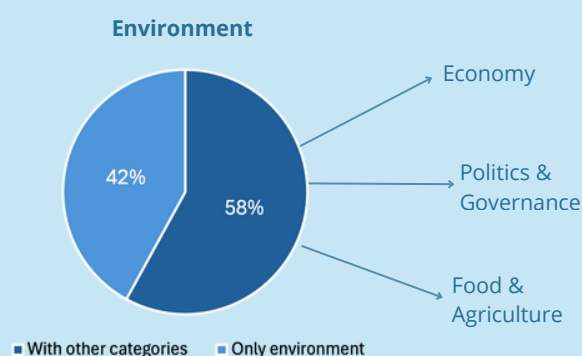

EADI, the European Association of Development Research and Training Institutes, is the leading European network in the field of Development Studies: With more than 110 institutional members in 22 countries it has been organising activities and providing platforms for international networking and exchange with a strong interdisciplinary focus for the last 50 years.

What is Development Studies?

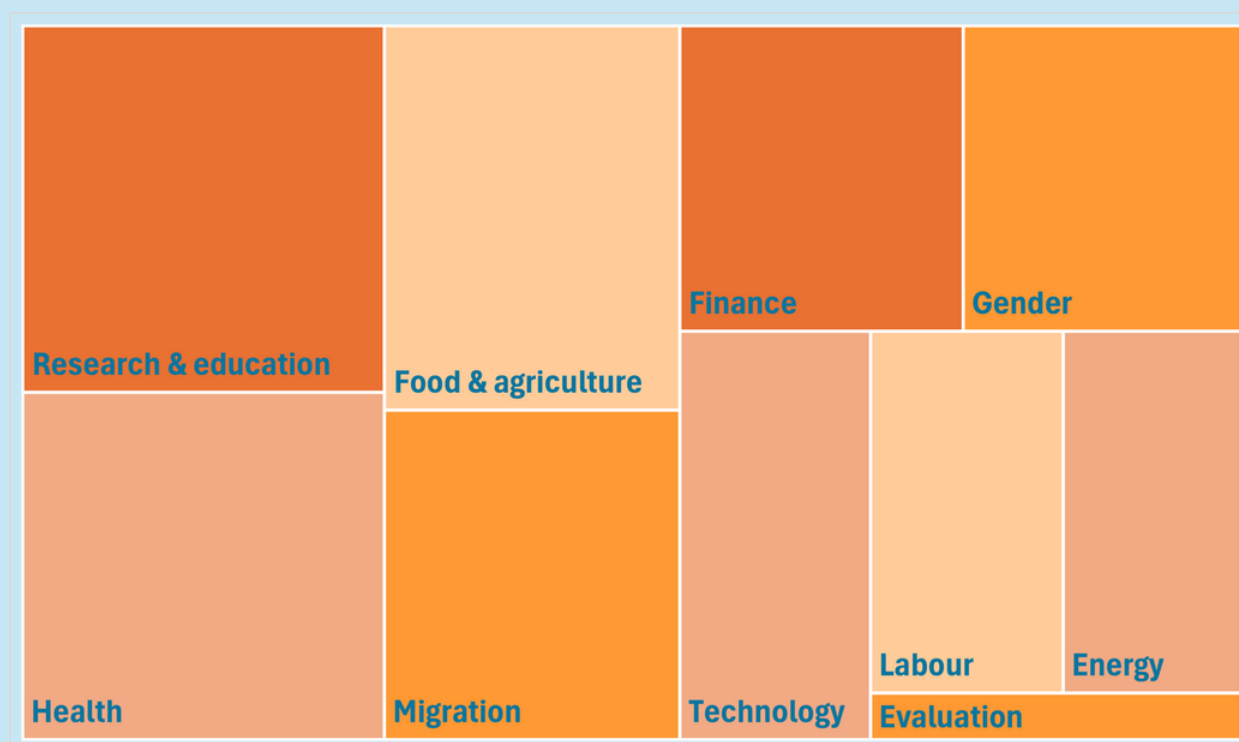

Development Studies, as a multi-disciplinary field, seeks to understand the interplay between social, economic, political, technological, ecological, cultural and gendered aspects of societal change at the local, national, regional and global levels. EADI members' research deals with the most pressing issues of our time, the different positions and open questions around them and how they relate to the larger picture. EADI thus offers a diversity of positions and perspectives on development through the wide range of approaches and research areas represented by its members.

What do we do?

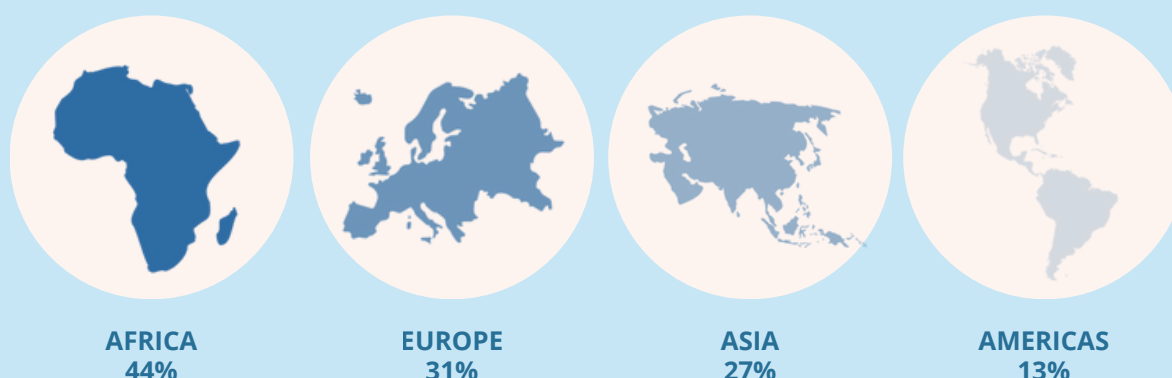

Our members' interdisciplinary and multi-thematic research provides evidence-based advice to policy makers and practitioners in all areas related to development. In the last 3 years, EADI has selected (hand picked) 4,545 open-access publications (as of October 2024) published by its members, including academic articles, policy publications and blogs. These studies address various topics such as Environment, Politics & Governance, Society, Economy and Security, with a large proportion of multi-thematic analyses:

Other relevant topics for EADI researchers are:

Geographical distribution of indexed publications:

Map created by Bailey from Noun Project

Map created by Leonardo Henrique
Martini from Noun Project

Map created by Leonardo Henrique
Martini from Noun Project

Map created by Setyo Ari Wibowo
from Noun Project

Observations: note that some studies are multi-regional

Why is it relevant for public policies?

EADI's analytical power can be easily accessed through its publication database, where policymakers and practitioners can apply direct filters to find the most relevant and up-do-date research on any development-related topic, and on any region.

Enter Search ...

Categories

Search

- ☐ Aid
- ☐ Development Cooperation
- ☐ Donor's Relations
- ☐ Emergency Relief

Regions

Search

- ☐ Africa
 - ☐ Northern Africa
 - ☐ Sub-Saharan Africa
 - ☐ Eastern Africa
 - ☐ Middle Africa

Tags

- ☐ Blog/Opinion
- ☐ Academic Publications
- ☐ Policy Publications
- ☐ EADI eNewsletter
- ☐ EJDR

Search clear

Results: 1 to 8 of total 7196

1 2 3 4 5 ... next

Publication picks - Policy Briefs

Strengthening civil preparedness in the Baltic Sea Region

08 September 2025 - Veronika Slakaityte & Izabela Surwillo - Danish Institute for International Studies (DIIS)

show

Lessons for designing locally led adaptation programmes

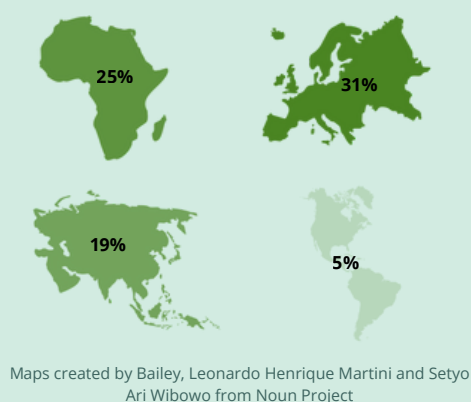

25 August 2025 - Paul Mitchell May Thazin Aung Larissa Setaro - International Institute for Environment and Development (IIED)

show

Examples

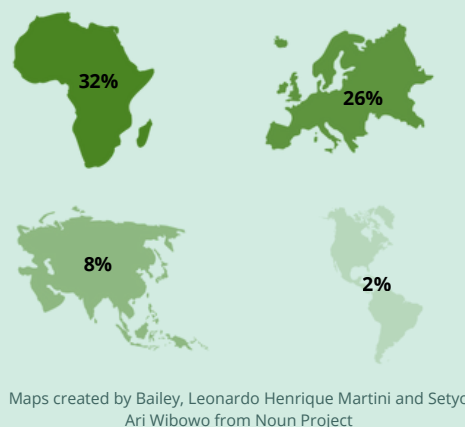

MIGRATION

Between 2022 and 2024, EADI members published over 200 analyses on migration, all gathered in the network's database. Half of these explore the interaction of this phenomenon with other topics such as Society, Politics & Governance or Work. These studies focused mainly on Europe and Africa.

DIGITALISATION

65 studies are devoted to digitalisation in development over the 2022-2024 period. Geographically, Africa and Europe are the most studied regions, accounting for more than half of all digitalisation-related publications.

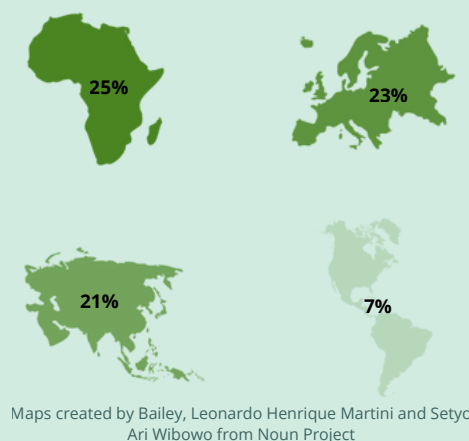

ENVIRONMENT

Environmental studies are the topic to which EADI members pay the greatest attention, with almost 1,000 studies in the past three years. Although these refer to all regions, there is a particular emphasis on Africa and Europe.

PEACE, SECURITY AND FRAGILITY

In the 2022-2024 period, EADI's publication database has gathered over 428 analyses on the issues of peace, security and fragility. These security-related studies focused geographically on Africa, followed by Europe, Asia and America.

Follow us and engage with us

You can get in touch with EADi's Secretariat here

EADi's Podcast

EADi's Youtube Channel

EADi's Blog

European Journal of Development Research (EJDR).

Suscribe to our Newsletter here

