Launch of a discussion and reflection process at EADI

At the moment, the scientific community is identifying knowledge gaps to reach the sustainable development goals (SDGs) to building the Agenda 2050. And how these knowledge gaps can be filled. But: What will happen after 2030 – will the global community be able to continue cooperating on sustainable development goals regarding the complex and changing political landscape at the global level which tends to drift apart?

Closing: Henning Melber, EADI President

13:00

Farewell Lunch
